What does Counseling do for Students?

◆ Perform guidance learning activities based on academic, career, and personal/social areas through classroom lessons, individual planning, and small-group activities

◆ Provide responsive services to students, both individually and in groups, to address a variety of topics such as self-awareness, peer and family relationships, social skills, and future endeavors, whether it is career or educational.

◆ Collaborate with teachers, staff, and parents in regard to meeting the developmental needs of students

Our Mission:

The Field Middle School Counseling Program is designed to meet the developmental needs of all students to achieve optimal personal growth, acquire positive social skills and values, set appropriate career goals, and realize their full academic potential.
