

Why buy toys when you can borrow them?

United Disability Services' toy lending library loans developmental toys and resource materials to parents, grandparents and anyone working with a child from birth to six years of age. One of the largest in the state, we have 4,200 toys kids love to play with that help foster essential developmental skills.

We also have a large number of items adapted for children of all abilities, including toys, switches and sensory items.

We have new toys!
